

This is Grace,
She just came home from her
class at 2 and is really hungry

She texts her friends to see if anyone can take her to a groceries but everyone is in class right now

She remembers that her friend about an app that can deliver cheap groceries
and decides to try it out

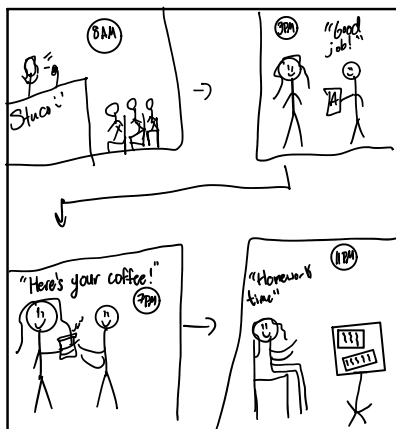

She Orders some snacks
and waits for them to come

The food arrived
surprisingly quick,
and was pretty cheap

She made fried rice
with what she got and
happy she got it fast
and cheap

Lucy is a very driven and talented student involved in many school activities.

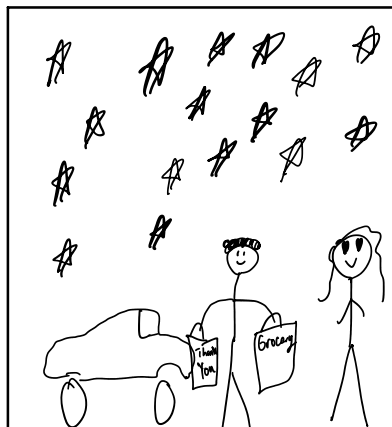

Often, Lucy gets her meals between classes from vending machines.

Due to her insufficient eating habits, her stomach constantly rumbles and growls in class.

After receiving an email about Demeter Grocer, a new campus grocery app, Lucy downloads it and orders some food.

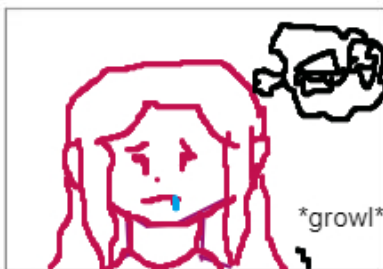

The same night she ordered her groceries, Lucy got her food delivered to her residence hall.

With Demeter Grocer, Lucy no longer has to buy her meals from vending machines and her stomach no longer interrupts class!

Penelope is waiting for her next class.

Penelope forgot to eat breakfast, and is hungry.

A classmate hears her stomach growl. They ask why she hasn't eaten.

Penelope says she can't go get food because she can't risk missing class.

Classmate tells her about Demeter Grocer

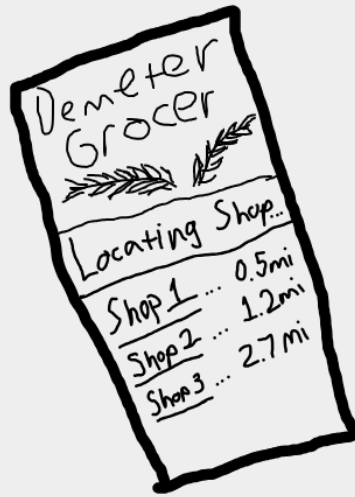

Penelope gets food and doesn't miss any class.

“Man, I sure am hungry. I wish I had some snacks
right about now!”

Remembering an app he'd been recommended, Kevin downloads Demeter Grocer.

He then inputs
the type of food
he wants, and
finds a store
near him that has it.

Lastly, he requests a ride through the app's services.

He then arrives at the store to purchase his snacks.
